

Analemma Wines

Mosier Hills Alpine Rose Columbia Gorge 2019

Tech Specs

Type:	Rose Still Wine
Ingredients:	Pinot Noir
Region/Subregion:	Oregon, Columbia Gorge,
Organic?	Yes
Vegan?	Yes
Biodynamic?	Yes
ABV:	12.5%
Sizes Available:	750ml

A closer look...

Farming Methods:	Hand harvested
Winemaker:	Steven Thompson

All about this bottle

Analemma's staff consists of seven farm inhabitants and three jersey cows who work out of a converted barn that acts as their production facility and has a tasting "room" right outside the door. Analemma's biodynamic beliefs and commitment to the soil are at the center of everything they do. The Mosier Hills Estate serves as both Analemma's home and its heart. The vineyard was planted in 2012 amid a former eddy of the Missoula Floods that deposited river stones and granitic glacial erratics. Due to its location in the rain shadow of the Cascade Mountains, the estate is also trapped between maritime and continental climates, with an average precipitation of 25-35 inches per year. Analemma achieved Demeter certification in 2017, and 2020 was the first legally approved release. Regenerative and conscientious approaches guide the care of the vineyards, as well as the 10 acres of orchards, lavender plantings, cow pastures, and gardens that comprise the Analemma ecosystem. Plums and cherries dominate the nose, with hints of spice from cinnamon and clove and woody notes from black tea and cedar. The wine has a lovely flavor, and the addition of spices makes it feel more celebratory. Demeter certified biodynamic.

