All about this bottle

This is a big, ripe year where the natural acidity of Quinta da Gricha plays an important role in the Vintage blend. With a powerful ox-blood colour, this muscular Port has a fresh vein of tannin that enhances its fruity aroma, bringing vibrancy to its rich, jammy palate and ensuring a balanced and elegant finish. This is a concentrated but fresh Vintage Port with an intrinsic quality to age beautifully in bottle for several decades. Stand the bottle upright for a few hours before decanting. Stand the bottle upright for a few hours before decanting. Best decanted at least two hours before service. Serve at room temperature (16°C-18°C).
